Free Will writing service

As anyone who has lost a loved one, particularly in unforeseen circumstances will know, life can throw anything at you. The passing of a family member or close friend is never going to be anything other than emotionally draining and stressful. By preparing for the future with a Will at least some of the pressures on those left behind are reduced.

Unite's Will Service is simple, quick and free. Taking a small amount of time now to arrange your Will can save your loved ones a lot of time, inconvenience and stress at a time when they will least need such pressures.

The law is never straightforward and people are often very surprised to find out how the law will divide up the estate of someone who dies in circumstances where they do not have a Will. The only way of ensuring that your estate is administered and divided in accordance with your wishes is to make a will.

Our solicitors will talk you through the entire process and explain any issue you wish to discuss with them. They also have expertise in dealing with Powers of Attorney and Living Wills which they would also be happy to discuss with you.
